MARCH 1988

Dear MBA Parent:

Spring is upon us, and yet much work needs to be accomplished between now and May 28. This has been one of MBA's finest years as our students have attained numerous academic, athletic, and extracurricular honors. We are extraordinarily proud of them.

Many of you have asked about my plans for next year. I have accepted a position as Headmaster of Porter-Gaud School in Charleston, South Carolina. It is a very fine co-educational school with 770 students, founded in 1867. We invite you to visit us. We deeply appreciate your support this year.

Sincerely,

Gordon E. Bondurant

STUDENTS HAVE ACCESS TO VANDERBILT LIBRARY THROUGH MBA LIBRARY

An exciting link between the Patrick Wilson Library at MBA and the Jean and Alexander Heard Library at Vanderbilt has just been completed. The MBA Library has access to the libraries at Vanderbilt University through a computer modem and MBA students now can request books from the Vanderbilt Library, checking them out at MBA. MBA librarians pick up the books and return them to the Vanderbilt Library.

In addition to check-out privileges through the Patrick Wilson Library, MBA students may get a card for access to the Jean and Alexander Heard Library for evening study and browsing. This exciting new relationship enables MBA students to have access to the 1,730,000 volumes available at Vanderbilt.

TOTOMOI INDUCTS FIVE SENIORS

TOTOMOI, MBA's leadership organization inducted five seniors just before the spring break. Seniors Rob Barrett, Kurt Gilliland, Bill Penuel, Braxton Perkins, and Richard Speight were selected for membership. They join Seniors Edgar Bueno, Steve Jobe, David Spickard, and Jay Knowles who were inducted last spring.

TOTOMOI recognizes students who receive points in each of the following areas: scholastic achievement, athletic participation, student government, organizations, forensics, drama, publications, citizenship, and other extracurriculars. A certain base grade-point level is necessary to be recognized. We congratulate these young men.

JUNIOR HONOR SOCIETY INDUCTION HELD

The Montgomery Bell Academy Junior Honor Society held its annual induction on February 22. Students considered for membership must have three consecutive semesters of an average of 90. Semesters counted for consideration may be during the seventh, eighth, ninth grades, and the first semester of the tenth grade. Averages must be earned at Montgomery Bell Academy and cannot be transferred from a previous school. Membership is then retained through the end of the tenth grade, at which time students may become eligible for the Cum Laude Society.

JUNIOR SCHOOL PARTICIPATES IN THIRD ANNUAL ST. CECILIA ACADEMICS AND FINE ARTS DAY

On Saturday, February 27, nineteen students from the Junior School competed in the third annual St. Cecilia Academics and Fine Arts Day. Sponsored by the National Honor Society of St. Cecilia Academy for students in fifth, sixth, seventh, and eighth grades from area private and parochial schools, the event has grown to phenomenal proportions over the past three years, from 80 participants in 1986, 460 participants in 1987, to this year's high of nearly 633 students. Academic contests consist of written tests in general knowledge, math (individual), science, English, social studies, math team, foreign languages, and a spelling bee. In the area of fine arts, entries are accepted in art (drawing, painting, and sculpture), creative writing (short story, poetry, and informal essay), oratory (poetry, dramatic interpretation, delivery of others' speeches, and original oratory), solo comedy, chorus, one-act plays, duet acting, and solo instrumental performances. MBA competed in the areas of general knowledge, math, English, foreign languages, and spelling. Prizes are awarded to first and second places only. In fine arts competition, students are rated on an individual basis rather than in competition with one another; art, however, is judged for the purpose of choosing works for display during the week prior to the contest day.

Winning awards for MBA were Andrew Vahrenkamp (1st place in 7th grade general knowledge, 2nd place in 7th grade math, and 1st place in 7th grade English), David Frazier (2nd place in Algebra and 2nd place in Latin), and Jackson Wray (1st place in 8th grade English). In addition, Julian Bibb won a rating of "Excellent" in oratory, R.A. Dickey took 1st place in the 7th grade poetry division of creative writing, Breen Frazier won 1st place in the 8th grade short story division of creative writing, and all five entrants in the art competition had their works selected for display (Bo Bartholomew, Kirk Brown, Asher Dudley, Eric Ericson, and Hal Pickel). The other participants from MBA were Andy Anderton, Breen Frazier, Suresh Gunasekaran, Winn Keathley, Kavi Paruchuri, Andy Russ, Sachin Vaikunth, and Flagg Youngblood.

MBA SEVENTH GRADERS WIN STOCK MARKET GAME

MBA teacher Joe Thoni has some financial wizards in his seventh-grade math classes. A team composed of Will Berry, Julian Bibb, Hal Pickel, Peter Stahl, and Flagg Youngblood finished as the first-place team in the Junior Division of a recent Stock Market Game, an educational project sponsored by Middle Tennessee State University, the Securities Industry Association, and the Tennessean's Newspaper and Education Service. MBA, as a matter of fact, took first and third place in the Junior Division.

Students took an imaginary $100,00 and invested it in the stock market during a volatile period this past fall. The students learned a valuable lesson on October 19 when the big board went down 708 points. Sponsor for MBA, Joe Thoni, had this to say: "The teams did a good job from beginning to end. Two important lessons they learned were the art of working together and how to keep up with daily strategy of selling short for the advantage."

As a first-place team winner, the team received $150, an amount which team member Will Berry said, "We plan to donate our prize money to charity or give it to the school."

SEAN DUDLEY RECEIVES SCHOLASTIC ART AWARD

For the first time in its history, MBA represented by Sean Dudley competed in the annual Scholastics Competition sponsored regionally by the Savannah College of Art and Design. Sean submitted a portfolio of eight works and was awarded multiple honors. Of the eight works, seven won some type of recognition, including two blue ribbon awards. These two blue ribbon works will travel from this regional competition to be judged in national competition. In light of his recognition in this competition, the Savannah College of Art and Design awarded Sean the Francis Larkin McCommon Scholarship.

Among the most prestigious art schools in the country, Sean has been accepted to the Pratt Institute in New York, the Art Institute of Chicago (with merit), and the School of Visual Arts in New York (to name a few). While Scholarships are still pending, Sean has been acknowledged as one of 150 finalists out of 1500 for a full tuition scholarship at the School of Visual Arts. Sean should be congratulated not only for these honors but also for the years of hard work in the area of the arts while maintaining the workload MBA demands.

FOUR MBA STUDENTS RECEIVE EAGLE AWARD IN ONE CEREMONY

Recently four MBA Scouts from Troop 31 received Eagle Awards in a special Eagle Court of Honor at St. George's Episcopal Church. The Scouts achieved this highest rank in Scouting by working on skill awards, merit badges, and badges of rank to receive the level of Life Scout. They also were required to plan, develop, and give leadership to others in completing a service project which benefited their church, school, or community.

The honored Scouts are Jim Haynes, III, who rebuilt a footbridge behind St. George's Episcopal Church; John Koon, who constructed distance markers for the Percy Warner Park Golf Course; John Moore, who landscaped the creek in front of St. George's Episcopal Church; and Will Van Derveer, III, who excavated coke ovens at Grundy Lake State Park.

The Eagle rank speaks eloquently of the dedication of young people to service above self. The skills learned in Scouting, the leadership training opportunities, and the pleasures of team work mean these young men have talents they will use throughout their lives. We congratulate them.

JIM WOMACK - "A RENAISSANCE MAN IN THE REFORMED TRADITION"

In a recent issue of the Mid-State Presbyterian Jim Womack was featured with the heading above this paragraph. The article told of Jim's impact upon MBA, his church, and the community of Nashville. Pictures of some of Jim's etchings, engravings, and paintings were convincing testimony of Jim's artistry, but throughout the article one captures the sense of Jim's enthusiasm for sharing his love of art with young people. "Jim's purpose in teaching art history is to help people open their eyes to new areas of life." Congratulations, Jim, on this very fine feature.

CLASSICAL ASSOCIATION HEARS MBA FACULTY MEMBER

Anne Christeson, a teacher of Latin and English in her two years at MBA, has been asked by the Classical Association of the Middle West and South to present a paper April 8 in New Orleans, Louisiana, at the annual meeting. The paper, entitled "Mother-Daughter Relationship in Vergil's Aeneid," was developed as part of an intensive institute Mrs. Christeson participated in last summer sponsored by the National Endowment for the Humanities at Tufts University in Boston. The entire MBA community is very proud of Anne's selection for this paper and wishes her the very best.

DEBATERS CONTINUE TO EXCEL--TWO TEAMS TO NATIONALS

The MBA debate program invited to the campus in the month of January 68 debate teams from the finest schools in the United States. Twelve other Lincoln-Douglas debaters were invited, along with a host of coaches, judges, and national leaders in high school forensics and debate. In six years the Southern Bell Forum has attained preeminent status. This year the Executive Director of the National Forensic League told the gathered debaters that they were experiencing the finest debate offered in the United States--Montgomery Bell Academy's Southern Bell Forum. MBA is honored to host this gathering of nearly 300 students and coaches who are committed to a strong forensic program.

Teams from Dallas, Chicago, Atlanta, Boston, Iowa give testimony to the national flavor of the Forum. The quality of the program was attested to by a letter the headmaster received from a debater from Milton Academy. He stated, "Mr. Bondurant, my parents gave me the trip to MBA and Nashville as a Christmas present, and I was a bit nervous about whether it would be worth it. However, I came back to Milton Academy deeply impressed with the hospitality, the warmth, the organization, and the fantastic people at the Southern Bell Forum. The Christmas present was one of my best ever."

MBA debaters continue to sweep events. The Mars Hill Debate Tournament was won by Jay Kahlon and Burt Fulmer, who went undefeated throughout the tournament, while a novice negative team of David Strayhorn and John Hays placed first in their division easily outdistancing each of the other schools in the event. Top individual speaker award went to Jay Kahlon and Burt Fulmer.

In a big tournament in High Point, North Carolina, Jay Kahlon and Jonathan Reeve captured first place and won the rotating first-place trophy. Jay Kahlon took top individual debater. Debaters from Newark Science of New Jersey and Palmetto of Miami placed second and third.

At the Goodpasture Novice Debate Tournament, MBA novice debaters Craig Davis and Babu Paruchuri took first-place honors while John Butler and George Ewing came in second. In another novice debate at the University of Alabama, Craig and Babu won first-place by virtue of winning 14 ballots of the judges while losing only 1 ballot. Additionally, Craig edged out teammate Babu for the top novice debater among 40 novice debaters. Babu finished in second place, just one point behind Craig. Craig and Babu, the very next weekend, took first place by going undefeated in another novice tournament.

In the prestigious Barkley Forum, sponsored by Emory University, Tom Rogers and Braxton Perkins reached the octo-final round while two MBA entries in individual events. Brad Griffin finished fifth among 150 entries in interpretative reading and Prescott Glynn was a quarterfinalist in the nationally competitive original oratory division. Jonathan Reeve and Eugene Park debated at Samford University where they placed fourth in a tournament featuring teams from four Southeastern states.

MBA took first place in debate sweepstakes in the recent very fine Vestavia Hills Tournament in Birmingham. The entire squad gave outstanding performances. Prescott Glynn won first place in original oratory while Craig Davis was selected as the best novice debater at the competition. Likewise, in varsity debate Burt Fulmer edged out Braxton Perkins for the first-place speaker award. Jay Kahlon was the fourth-place speaker at the tournament at the varsity level. MBA successfully defended its title from last year with Braxton Perkins and Jonathan Reeve winning first place in varsity debate while teammates Burt Fulmer and Jay Kahlon placed third. Additionally, the sophomore varsity team of Eugene Park and Hal Jones reached quarterfinals as did the novice team of Willie Gray and Bill Sastry. Twenty schools from four states competed in the tournament.

Congratulations, debaters! For the fifth consecutive year, MBA will be sending the two cross-examination debate teams from the State of Tennessee to compete at the Nationals this summer. Each state is allowed to send two teams to the Nationals, and MBA has provided those two teams from Tennessee for five years. This year, the teams were selected at the Tennessee Qualifying Tournament at Overton, where both of the semifinal brackets were closed out by the four MBA entries. Reaching the semifinals but not qualifying for Nationals was the team of Jonathan Reeve and Eugene Park, as well as the team of Hal Jones and Joon-Ho Yu. This year's winners were the following two teams: Tom Rogers and Braxton

Perkins, and the team of Burt Fulmer and Jay Kahlon. This year the National Speech Tournament, with teams from all fifty states represented, will compete in Nashville. This is the first time in twenty years that the National Tournament has been held in Nashville.

MBA GRADUATES RECOGNIZED

Bryan Hassel, Class of 1984, was chosen as one of thirty-two U.S. college students to receive the prestigious Rhodes Scholarship to study at Oxford University. Bryan, who was elected president of the student body at U.N.S. as a sophomore, was an outstanding student while at MBA. He was one of MBA's first Morehead Scholarship recipients to U.N.S. and has maintained a 3.8 grade-point average while actively participating in the political life at Chapel Hill. As a junior he won the Ernest L. Mackie Award for Outstanding Character, Scholarship, and Leadership, and in the spring of 1987 Bryan was among twenty Time Magazine college achievement award winners. All of us at MBA congratulate Bryan on this singular honor.

John-Lindell Pfeffer, Class of 1986, has won a Duke University scholarship given to the outstanding inductee of the Golden Key National Honor Society. Pfeffer, an economics major, has a straight A average in college. He is listed on the Dean's list at Duke and is president of his own business, Movietime Candy, Inc. Golden Key was founded ten years ago to recognize college juniors and seniors with strong academic records.

MBA graduates have been recognized for their contributions to the athletic programs of their colleges. In football Parish Lentz, this fall, received the game ball as he led Kenyon to a win over arch rival Denison. This victory was the first over Denison in 77 years. Freshman Paul Lentz was selected to be a member of the varsity soccer team and has played a great deal in goal for Kenyon.

TWO MBA GRADUATES RECEIVE PRESTIGIOUS POTTER SCHOLARSHIPS TO MED SCHOOL

The MBA Class of 1984 had two additional honors bestowed upon class members as Sam Chang and George Lynch were recipients of the prestigious Potter Scholarships to Vanderbilt Medical School. These scholarships are for $15,000 per year for four years of medical school. Four Potter Scholarships are given each year. We are extraordinarily proud that two of these from their multitude of applicants to the Medical School are MBA graduates.

TONY RAFALOWSKI RECEIVES FELLOWSHIP

MBA graduates Tony Rafalowski, Class of 1984, and a graduate of Duke University this spring, has received the Rankin Fellowship for Study in Classics in Vanderbilt University. This fellowship is for tuition and a renewable $10,000 per year stipend. Congratulations, Tony!

MBA CHESS TEAM IS MOVING THOUGHTFULLY

The newly formed MBA Chess team, under the leadership of president Trevor Edwards, has participated in three major events this spring--the MBA Classic, the Crossville Scholastics, and the Tennessee State High School Championships. Under the leadership of Coaches David Mikell and Mark Ishee, the team placed fifth in the novice division of the Crossville Scholastics and second in the Tennessee State High School Championships novice division. In the MBA Classic, Mark Thrailkill placed first, Lawrence Berman second, and Lyle McDonald third. At the Crossville Scholastic, Michael O'Hare was first place in the unrated individual division, Jason West second place unrated, and Mark Thrailkill tenth place overall novice division.

We are enthusiastic about the results of our new young team. A second-place finish in the High School Championships is impressive, and we congratulate these young men.

UPCOMING EVENTS ON THE COLLEGE COUNSELING CALENDAR

On Monday, March 21, the first day back at school after spring break, MBA is co-hosting a College Fair.

WHEN: 7-9 p.m. on March 21, 1988
WHERE: Harpeth Hall Gymnasium
SPONSORED BY: MBA, Harpeth Hall, and St. Cecilia
WHO IS INVITED: Sophomores, Juniors, and their parents
WHAT'S THE ATTRACTION: 70-100 colleges will be represented at the fair.

This promises to be a first-class opportunity for sophomores and juniors to begin gathering informational brochures about colleges from all over the United States. Don't miss it!

OTHER UPCOMING DATES INCLUDE:

May 7: SAT or Achievement - optional date
June 4: Achievement Tests for all Juniors and some Sophomores and Freshmen. Consult your science, history, and foreign language teachers as to whether you should be taking an Achievement Test. Also in May there will be a college evening for parents of Juniors. Two college admissions professionals will be our guest speakers and will present views of the application process.

PARENTS' COUNCIL VERY ACTIVE IN COMMUNITY AWARENESS

Nationally-known speaker Betsy Houghton returned to Nashville on March 7 and March 8 to discuss issues related to successful parenting and parent networking. Topics included parent and community prevention strategies, how to unite parents in long-range planning, how to respond to opposition from youth and other adults, and how to utilize community resource persons.

In mid-April the Parents' Council meeting will have a program focussing on helping children make decisions. Watch for the Parents' Council newsletter for the exact date and more specific details. If you have any questions, please do not hesitate to call Nancy Dunkerly, 292-8502, Chairman of the MBA Auxiliary Community Awareness Committee.

SUMMER CAMP PLANNED AGAIN AT MBA

MBA will offer two camps for students ages 7 to 16 this summer. An All Sports Camp will be held for three weeks beginning June 13 and ending July 1. Students will participate in a variety of sports each day under the supervision of MBA coaches and senior leaders. From July 11 to July 15 MBA will have a Sports Specialty Camp featuring expert instruction in basketball, soccer, tennis, and baseball. A brochure about these camps will be sent to all MBA parents. Anyone else interested in attending camps should call the school office for a brochure and an application (298-5514).

MBA PLAYERS PRESENT GEORGE BERNARD SHAW'S COMEDY ARMS AND THE MAN

George Bernard Shaw's delightful comedy Arms and the Man was presented by a nearly professional cast. Very strong characters in the production were Richard Speight, Brad Griffin, Prescott Glynn, Jay Riven, and Jason West. Also starring were Sarah Ruccio, Jennifer Debs, and Robyn Crowdon. The set design and execution was by Prescott Glynn and Jason West. We thank Mr. Poston for an exceptional production, and we congratulate the students who handled their roles so well.

DR. BATTEN TO HAVE ARTICLE PUBLISHED

"Voices and Fathers in the Works of Jesse Hill Ford," Dr. Wayne Batten's article will be included in a forthcoming book to be published by the Louisiana State University Press, The Vanderbilt Tradition: Essays in Honor of Thomas Daniel Young. Dr. Batten's previous publication was "Illusion and Archetype: The Curious Story of Edna Pontellier," in The Southern Quarterly, winter 1986. Dr. Batten is a member of the MBA English Department.

THAYER SMITH MEMBER OF TENNESSEE ALL STATE ORCHESTRA

Thayer Smith has been chosen by auditions conducted statewide to be a member of the Tennessee All State Orchestra. Thayer plays the string bass and is a student of Edgar Meyer at the Blair School of Music. Auditions will be held at the convening of the orchestra, in April, to determine what position Thayer will play within the string bass sections, but reliable sources say that he has a very good chance of being named principal bass. Congratulations and good luck, Thayer!

BILL CHERRY OUTSTANDING TENNIS PLAYER

Bill Cherry, MBA junior, was recently named the OUTSTANDING PLAYER FOR 1987 by the Tennessee Tennis Association. Great accomplishment, Bill. Keep up the good work.

FRESHMAN WRESTLERS HAVE OUTSTANDING SEASON

MBA's Freshman wrestling team had another outstanding season, finishing second in the Mid-State Regional Tournament on January 23.]

Coached by Anderson Gaither, this year's team was led by co-captains Robert Echols, who finished as the champion in the 135-lb weight class, and by Keith McCarty who finished in second place. Lance Carney and Eric Crawford also won second-place medals while John Butler, Dudley Hammon, and David Frazier finished in third place. Seventeen teams from Nashville and the mid-state area competed, with McGavock attaining the first-place trophy. After last year's championship team, the future appears bright for the varsity wrestling for the next few years.

FACULTY FORMS LAWN MAINTENANCE SERVICE

Although it is contrary to News & Views policy to place advertisements, we do feel an exception can be made because of a service being offered to MBA families by MBA faculty members. A lawn maintenance service has been established by four staff members. Work may be done as needed or on a seasonal contract. Those interested are asked to contact one of the following: Floyd Elliott (331-7983), Luther Killian (331-6598), Joe Thoni (297-6681), Ken Downey (383-1798).
